ANGER OVER FOYER FLATS COURT SLUR

A HOUSING charity has joined Harlow Council in defending a housing project for young people after it was described in open court as a "dumping ground" and a "school for drugs".

Solicitor James Howard told Chelmsford

Crown Court that Jason Cranch had been bullied into embarking on a one-man crime spree while living at Occasio House, part of the Harlow Foyer in Playhouse Square.

Cranch (22) was jailed for two-and-a-half years after he admitted burgling five homes in Harlow on October 18 last year.

Prosecutor Richard Stevens told the court that Cranch stole mobile phones, a digital camera, a laptop computer, a wallet, gold rings, cash and bottles of wine during the raids at properties in Abbotswold, Wedhey, Taylifers and Seymours.

Police had to wake the 79-year-old female occu-

Mum pleads: 'Move us out of vile house'

By SOPHIE WARNER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MOTHER-of-four claims her family's health is being put at risk by the refusal of housing chiefs to move them out of their "dangerously dilapidated" council home.

Katherine Douyere (29), who has been living in the cramped two-bed house in Little Brays for the past eight years, said an escalating mould problem has left her children's bedroom a serious health hazard and too dangerous to sleep in.

"It is vile the way we have to live," she said. "The house is dangerously dilapidated, covered in mould and literally falling apart. Last year the ceiling collapsed and missed my son by inches."

"There are six people living here in a two bedroom house and there's not enough room to swing a cat. It is very crowded."

Ms Douyere said she had contacted Harlow Council on numerous occasions to complain about the state of the property but claimed it was not willing to find her family a new home.

"They just sent round a team to carry out repairs but all that did was hide the mould problem for a while. Now it's come back with a vengeance," she said.

An inspection of the house was carried out in January this year by the council's own senior environmental health officer who reported that the property was "not reasonably suitable for its current occupation" and recommended the family was given priority for suitable alternative accommodation.

Yet Ms Douyere is still waiting for the council to act on the recommendation and said she feared her children's health was deteriorating every day the family remains at the house.

"My daughter has had health problems since she was born and has been put on antibiotics about seven or eight times already, while my middle son has got asthma that has recently got much worse," she said. "We can't put up with this for much longer."

Councillor Lee Dangerfield, chairman of the council's housing committee, told the Star yesterday (Wednesday) that work to remove mould from Mrs Douyere's property was due to start today.

"An inspection by the council's environmental health officer was undertaken and provided advice on the way of best addressing the problem," he said. "A programme of work to address the damp had been planned to take place by Kier Harlow prior to the tenant contacting the Star."

"The council has spoken to the tenant and it has been agreed that work will start tomorrow."

Killer due to be sentenced for murdering disabled pensioner

THE man who murdered a disabled pensioner will learn his fate when he returns to court Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

Scott Riley (26), of Parsonage Leys, Harlow, pleaded guilty to killing Jennifer North – also known as Macaree – in February of last year.

Ms North (62) died in hospital after suffering multiple stab wounds in what police described as a short but vicious attack by Riley as she sat in the driver's seat of her specially-adapted car while parked just yards from her home in Hadley Grange, Harlow.

Riley changed his plea to guilty when he appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court in January. He was remanded in custody.

He faces a mandatory life sentence, but the judge will be asked to set a minimum number of years he must spend behind bars before he can be considered for release on parole.

At a previous hearing the prosecution maintained Riley committed the murder in the course of committing another crime which, if proved, could double his sentence from a minimum of 15 years to 30.

pant of one of the properties to tell her that her home had been burgled after her belongings were found strewn across the neighbourhood.

But Mr Howard, who represented Cranch in court, said it was Harlow Council's decision to refer his client to Occasio House that put the young roofer "between the Devil and the deep blue sea" and led him to develop a £200-a-day cocaine habit.

"His last offence before going [to Occasio House] was shoplifting and his one before that went back to 2007," Mr Howard told the court.

"It's quite a leap from that level of offending to suddenly committing five burglaries in one night."

"There has to be some reason, one being that he's been placed in Occasio House. He's a follower rather than a leader. There it is a question of going along with what everyone is doing or be bullied."

Mr Howard said Cranch had been bullied into committing the crimes by "social inadequates" living at the site.

But social regeneration charity East Potential, which is responsible for the day-to-day running of Harlow Foyer, and Harlow Council – one of the charity's referral partners – reacted angrily to Mr Howard's court outburst.

Andy Palmer, head of Foyer Services at East Potential told the Star: "Eighty-one per cent of residents at our Harlow Foyer have moved on successfully to permanent housing, training and/or employment."

"We work closely with each resident to develop individual support plans that meet their personal, employment and education needs. This allows them to make positive changes to their lives so they can contribute to the community."

"We have a strong policy against drugs in all our foyers and remain vigilant by working closely with the police in monitoring and enforcing action against anyone caught using or dealing them."

Councillor Lee Dangerfield, chairman of the council's housing committee, added: "We are always disappointed when lawyers make unsubstantiated comments in court."

Join 'The Walk' and raise hospice funds

IT'S the charity event that puts the fun in fundraising is back. And this year it promises to be even bigger and better.

In the past two years the Star-backed Midnight Walk through Harlow has raised a phenomenal £200,000 for St Clare Hospice. For 2010 the organisers have raised the bar even higher by setting a target of £140,000.

Speaking at Monday's launch event at the Water Gardens in Harlow town centre, events fundraiser Tracy Meale said: "This year is a very special one for St Clare Hospice as we are celebrating our 20th birthday and providing 20 years of care to the local community. We are looking for 2,000 walkers to take part in our 10km walk round Harlow."

The walk takes place on Saturday, June 19. But even though that is more than three months away, we want you to sign up today. To take part you must be 14 or over. The cost of registration is £15 and you can do so in one of four ways – online, by email, by post or by telephone.

St Clare Hospice provides free-of-charge care for everyone over 18 living with a life-limiting illness such as cancer. It provides physical, social, spiritual and psychological care for hundreds of patients every year and also supports their family and friends, but to do so it raise around £4,000 every day. Only 30 per cent of its funding coming from the NHS.

That is why the Midnight Walk is so important and why we need as many Star readers to take part. The money raised through last year's Midnight

Walk has paid for over five weeks of round-the-clock in-patient care for eight patients at any one time.

Tracy said: "With one in three people diagnosed with cancer in this country and one in four dying

Average tax bill up by £26 a year

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL tax bills in Harlow will rise by a total of 1.7 per cent from April, an increase of almost £26 per year for the average Band D property.

The increase is fractionally greater than the 1.6 per cent rise across the country, according to the Local Government Association.

The total amount was set at a meeting last Thursday of Harlow Council, the only precepting authority whose share of the bill was frozen at last year's rate.

Essex County Council increased its demand by 1.9 per cent, while the amount allocated to Essex Police rose by 3.02 per cent and Essex Fire Authority by 2.7 per cent.

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "We have helped to keep the overall increase in council tax low by setting a zero increase in our share."

"Although Harlow Council collects council tax, we only receive a small proportion of the amount."

"Out of every £1 of council tax collected in Harlow, only 16p goes towards services provided by this council."

Information on council tax and discounts available to eligible households will be included with bills which will be sent to households later this month.

Councillor Simon Carter, chairman of the council's policy and resources committee, added: "There is help available to those struggling to pay their overall council tax bill."

"Residents should contact us as soon as possible if they are struggling to pay. There are benefits that can help or we can provide advice."

FORMER Labour Home Secretary David Blunkett visited Harlow on Thursday to help MP Bill Rammell kick start his General Election campaign.

Mr Blunkett, the MP for Sheffield Brightside who served as Home Secretary for more than three years under Tony Blair, addressed an audience of more than 100 Labour Party members at the Harlow Study Centre.

"It will be the marginal constituencies like Harlow which will decide the next Government," he said.

"Voters now have a choice. Will they risk the investment which has brought facilities like Harlow Leisurezone, the new football stadium, the new university campus and the impending regeneration of the town centre to a Tory government intent on making swingeing cuts?"

Mr Blunkett said he was proud to support Mr Rammell, describing him as an excellent constituency MP who had worked every day of his adult life to make Harlow a better place.

He added: "People need to judge which party best represents their values. The Labour Party, which believes in social justice and help for the poor and mainstream middle, or the Conservative Party, which believes in tax cuts for the richest few."

Speaking after the event, which raised more than £1,000 towards his election campaign, Mr Rammell said: "People are starting to appreciate the gravity of the choice they face.

"In Harlow we have a Tory council which shows a clear blueprint for how a Tory government would behave in office, cutting funding at a time when people who rely on these services need help the most.

"If the Tories can cut services this quickly and with such severity locally, just imagine what they are capable of if they get into government."

He added: "The launch was a great event and I am thankful to those who came, as well as David for sharing his perspective on the upcoming General Election."

Conservatives out in force on election campaign trail

THE Conservatives launched their General Election campaign to win Harlow with a visit to the town by no fewer than TWELVE Tory MPs.

They were put to work with door-to-door canvassing to drum up support for Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon.

The group joining Mr Halfon on Monday included Shadow Cabinet Secretary Oliver Letwin and Brain-tree and Romford MPs Brooks Newmark and Andrew Rosindell.

"I was delighted so many Conservative MPs came to Harlow," said Mr Halfon. "This is a real boost to the campaign and just shows how seriously the Conservatives see Harlow as one of the most important constituencies in the country."

During the day Mr Halfon and Shadow Higher Education Minister John Hayes also visited Harlow College where they met principal Colin Hindmarch.

The Conservatives plan to create 100,000 extra further education places and 100,000 more apprenticeship places if elected.

Mr Hayes said: "I was very pleased to be invited by Robert to visit Harlow College.

"After a turbulent time a couple of years ago the college is now going from strength to strength and has achieved some wonderful results.

"I pay tribute to the staff and students for their success."

Mr Halfon added: "I am really pleased that the college has had some great results and I look forward to seeing further academic successes in the months and years ahead."

Clash over Tory lord's donations

PARLIAMENTARY hopeful Robert Halfon has rejected calls to return cash received from Conservative Party donor Lord Ashcroft.

Back in 2005 Mr Halfon accepted £5,000 from the Tory peer who this week revealed his status as a tax non-domicile.

As a "non-dom", he only pays tax on his earnings made in the UK and not on his larger income from his lucrative overseas business interests.

Lord Ashcroft, who is also vice-chairman of the Conservative Party, has donated more than £4m directly to election campaigns in key marginal constituencies such as Harlow.

The Labour Party nationally accused Lord Ashcroft of reneging on his promise to move to the UK so he could be made a peer, while

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Harlow MP Bill Rammell called on Mr Halfon to return what he called the "tainted Ashcroft funding".

"For the Tory vice-chairman and major donor and the Conservative Party to have been, as the Information Commissioner described 'evasive and obfuscatory', is simply wrong," said Mr Rammell.

"Instead of paying tax in the UK on all of his earned income, he has been channelling millions into local Tory parties in marginal seats such as Harlow to help them try to buy the election.

"I urge Harlow Tories to justify themselves to the town's British taxpayers misled by Ashcroft and return donations immediately."

But Mr Halfon said he would not be lectured to by Mr Rammell, who he described as "up to his neck in the expenses scandal".

"Given the Labour Party has accepted £10.5m from non-doms and made Lord Paul a peer, the stench of Labour hypocrisy is pretty incredible," he said.

Mr Halfon said he would have preferred it if Lord Ashcroft was a full UK resident but asked if Mr Rammell would also want Lord Ashcroft's donations returned from Anglia Ruskin University, which is setting up a campus in Harlow.

As a non-dom, Lord Ashcroft is currently allowed to donate money to UK political parties as long as he is registered to vote here.

But the peer has remained secretive about his status until this week when the publication of a Freedom of Information request by a Labour MP threatened to reveal his status.

Transport chief 'exploring options' to fund a town bypass feasibility study

THE latest step on the road to a Harlow bypass was taken on Monday when the Government's transport chief visited the town to see for himself the need for the project.

Transport Minister Sadiq Khan met MP Bill Rammell and members of Harlow Council to discuss funding for a bypass feasibility study.

A new road which would relieve traffic congestion in the town is seen as essential to cope with the town's future growth but first a feasibility study must be undertaken to make a technical case for financing the project.

Mr Khan said: "I understand the transport challenges the town faces and I am looking to explore options to provide the funding for this feasibility study which I feel is a crucial piece of work.

"Harlow has responded well to the growth challenge and this Government recognises the need to provide additional investment in infrastructure improvements which will accompany growth."

Speaking after the meeting at Harlow Civic Centre, Mr Rammell said a bypass was one step closer as a result of Mr Khan's visit.

"All parties at the meeting effectively put forward the case for a new feasibility study for a bypass, which is crucial if Harlow is going to support new housing growth over the next ten years," he said.

Councillor Simon Carter, chairman of Harlow Council's policy and resources committee, added: "Harlow's future is being held back by traffic congestion and we need to change that.

"Both businesses and our residents tell us a new motorway junction is vital for the town if we are going to meet our future challenges and together we will keep putting forward our case."

The same old Tories

Councillor Simon Carter claims that by freezing council tax the Conservative administration is "giving a little back to everyone" (Letters, February 25).

But what is also being taken away under the surface of their budget? Countless increases in fees and charges alongside a myriad of cuts will affect the quality of life of residents, especially those more vulnerable.

The active retired are particularly affected. Well over 2,000 residents enjoy worthwhile activities around the town, entailing crucial social contacts and healthy pursuits. Yet council support has been withdrawn. Volunteers are expected to fulfil commercial and administrative duties, while members pay for buildings, insurance etc.

The Leah Manning Centre, a community facility Labour is especially proud of, faces even more swingeing cuts and increased fees and charges, like the Aneurin Bevan Centre. Aelfeva House, a valued meeting place, must close. Grant aid has again been ruthlessly slashed.

Mr Carter argues that Pets' Corner, the Museum of Harlow, The Playhouse and paddling pools are "all at the same price as last year". Not so. Fees for school visits are increased in the museum and Pets' Corner (with a budget cut). Steep hikes in hirer charges will challenge amateur companies using The Playhouse. Paddling pools are actually still free, but the playgrounds budget is massively reduced.

One minute local Tories – like David Cameron – are enthusiastic environmentalists. Then priorities drop: reduced grass cutting and shrub maintenance, charges on green and bulky waste alongside rat infestations, popular block estate cleaning removed. The same old Tories, nationally and locally, present a bleak vision for local people. If you're one of the wealthy few you can afford to pay taxes and then again for increasingly private services. Labour would protect and defend frontline services for all, not stealthily tax and deepen cuts behind the scenes.

Councillor Jean Clark
School Lane, Harlow

Labour can't be trusted

Sir, I read in the Star a letter from a former Labour councillor criticising Harlow Council's budget and the zero per cent increase in council tax.

He questioned the memory of the electorate and I'd like to respond by saying that there is nothing wrong with our memory. Indeed we clearly remember how badly his party mismanaged Harlow's finances when they were in power. In case he has chosen to block out the painful truth, I'd like to refresh his memory: in 2007 when Labour were in control of Harlow's finances they left a £1.8m budget blackhole to be inherited by the current administration. What this former councillor fails to grasp is that the economy has been so badly wrecked by Labour that residents are extremely grateful for the freeze on council tax. The Conservative administration is doing everything possible to help residents and at a time when it has been revealed that hundreds of staff at GlaxoSmithKline are facing redundancy he cannot honestly believe that Gordon Brown's economic recovery is working?

One thing is for certain; anyone being made redundant will not complain at the zero per cent increase in council tax.

After observing this Government for many years I've reached the conclusion that Labour politicians behave like ostriches, preferring to bury their heads in the sand whilst UK debt surges on to record high levels. Both nationally and locally, Labour politicians have demonstrated time and again that they do not have the ability to manage the economy.

Gordon Brown claims his economic plan for the UK has been a success, yet only recently the Office for National Statistics reported the Government was forced to borrow £4.3bn in January, the first deficit on record! So far this year the Treasury has borrowed an unprecedented £122.4bn, national debt is currently £848.5bn and servicing this debt costs the UK a record £4.26bn a month in interest payments alone.

These frightening figures are an enormous drain on the economy as increasing quantities of public money are effectively wasted when it could be used to build new hospitals, schools or prisons.

In short, Labour cannot be trusted on the economy or on anything else. Gordon Brown quietly signed away powers to the EU through the Lisbon Treaty, handed billions of pounds of rebate back to the EU, sold off UK gold reserves at rock bottom prices and then for good measure took us into an illegal war.

So much damage has been done that the election cannot come soon enough!

Dr Daniel Margetson
Fir Park, Harlow

No need for by-election

SIR, Councillor Nick Macy has an unfortunate habit in his intemperate outbursts which was one of the several reasons for me leaving the Liberal Democrats (Letters, February 18).

His and Nick Gunning's view that my wife Linda should resign and stand for re-election is quite fatuous. With less than two months to go it would be a terrible waste of taxpayers' money. Wait and let residents decide in May!

A little different from Councillor Macy's former leader Lorna Spenceley, who commutes from the nether regions of Cambridge but still can't let go.

Yes, Councillor Macy, the Liberal Democrat in Netteswell did lose to a Tory last year. It will probably happen again in May. Your problem is that my wife is a mover and a shaker and, as an ex local authority employee, she makes a very effective gamekeeper turned poacher..

Your cheap shots are wide of the mark and you have only managed to shoot yourself in the left foot – both of them.

Jim Pailing
Doulton Close, Harlow

A matter of priorities

SIR, No-one wants to cut money from any worthwhile projects in our town, but we live in the real world where having less money means prioritising where we spend it.

Many people have to make choices in life today; one example is heating vs food. This applies to many of our elderly residents due to them not having enough money to have as much as they want of each without careful consideration.

Birmingham City Council is making 2,000 of its staff redundant due to lack of money. All other councils are facing similar problems, again due to being starved of the money to do the job as they would like.

The Government has mismanaged the finances of our country and totally failed to control the banking industry. We are as a country in a very dire situation financially.

Labour has spent 11 years getting us into this mess so, as a famous American president once said, the buck stops here. Labour and Gordon Brown are the only ones to blame.

Councillor David Carter
Greygoose Park, Harlow

I miss 'ordinary' letters

SIR, Is it me or are the letters now slanted towards politics rather than breezy observations about life around Harlow?

Fair enough if people want to vent their opinion about the few who spend our hard-earned money on services in the town, but it would be nice also to see again ordinary letters about potholes, dog poo and the lack of a decent market.

Talking of markets, last Saturday I visited Bury St Edmunds and was amazed. Their's was a decent old-fashioned market which was buzzing.

I don't know if ours has been priced out of existence or that part of the town forgotten, but please will someone do something about it. A market was always the heart of the community; don't let it disappear altogether!

Good representatives

SIR, I would like to add my opinion to the debate surrounding councillor Tony Hall ("Tory apologises for amial gaffe", February 18)

While what he did was unacceptable and embarrassing for him and his colleagues, I have to ask who hasn't sent a message to their colleagues moaning about a client/customer/constituent?

It should never have happened and the lady has every reason to be upset, but the measure of the man is how good a councillor he is. In my opinion – and the experiences of my friends and family – Mr Hall is up there with David Carter, Joel Charles and Nick Churchill as the councillors who best represent their constituents and get issues fixed.

The town needs more councillors like them, but maybe with better email correspondence.

Paul Emery
Bush Fair, Harlow

An opportunity lost

SIR, As I watched TV recently I found myself flicking on to the Winter Olympics and becoming fixed on it – wishing, as we all do, that I could be involved in something that memorable.

It makes me very excited to think that in only two years the Olympic Games will be on Harlow's doorstep in London. However it saddens me to think that as a town we will be almost uninvolved.

Yes, I know GlaxoSmithKline will be home to the drug testing but does that really count? With a town of our size less than an hour's travel away from the Olympic site, surely we could have been a prime candidate to house one of the events or competing nations, especially when you consider how fantastic our new sports centre will be?

Why on earth did the Labour/Liberal Democrat council at the time not think it appropriate to put us forward for any of this? It amazes me to think a group of people could be so blind that the biggest sporting event in the country for over 45 years could be held less than 30 miles away and they didn't even try to get involved. It was an opportunity well and truly lost.

Star sports editor Alan Scott gives his verdict on the first-ever screening of a live 3D sports broadcast at Harlow's Cineworld cinema on Saturday

Rugby crowd get an eyeful with cinema's 3D screening

IF I was to say two-thirds of the audience in screen two at Harlow's Cineworld cinema on Saturday afternoon stood up for the National Anthem, you may think I was either mad or had somehow travelled back in time to the 1950s.

But that's exactly what happened when the complex became one of the first in the country to screen a major sporting event live in 3D.

The match was England's Six Nations Rugby Championship clash with Ireland and I was invited by the cinema's general manager, Julie Clark, to enjoy the pioneering experiment.

Julie has been involved in cinema for more than 20 years, having previously been a manager at the old Harlow Odeon. She's as excited as her audience about this latest development. Harlow is one of the 38 across the UK chosen to screen the match in eye-popping 3D.

As she welcomed me in she said: "It's a brilliant atmosphere. The fans will start singing when they're in."

The last time I watched a film in 3D was back in the mid-1980s when Jaws 3 was doing the rounds. As I am handed a pair of the

SPORTING SPECTACLE:

Handing out the 3D glasses on Saturday were Zara Hickey, Samantha Wilkinson and Victoria Coulber special glasses needed to view the match, I must confess to a little trepidation.

It takes me 20 minutes to get used to them and it's a weird sensation. Fortunately I've got plenty of time before the match starts and the audience – many wearing England shirts and the odd one donning an Ireland hat – make their way in.

From the moment an advert voiceover from actor Sean Bean announces: "Please leave your mobiles switched on" you know this is going to be a totally different cinematic experience. He goes on: "We want you to make as much noise as possible so we want you singing and cheering."

And so to the match. Ireland score an early try and the reaction is not as loud as I expected – apart from the Irish fans.

But the second half comes alive, perhaps helped by the fact that the audience are allowed to drink alcohol in their seats rather than eat popcorn.

I've forgotten I'm wearing 3D glasses but as soon as the cameras move pitchside for a line-out you are well aware that this is three dimensional.

The technology is still in its experimental stage for sport and certainly it should concentrate more on pitchside action rather than top of the stadium shots. But the result was an enjoyable experience in an electric atmosphere.

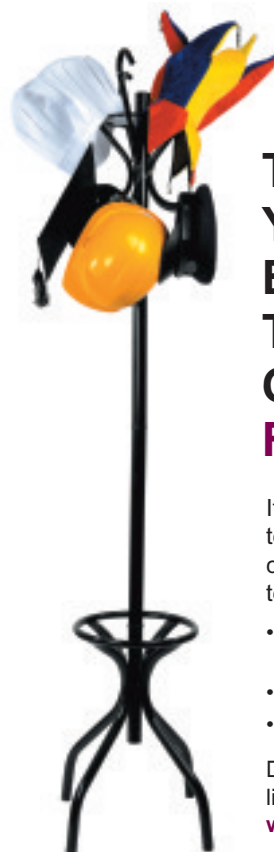

Julie is confident this is just the start of 3D sports events at Harlow's Cineworld. "It's still in its experimental stage but I think the sport in 3D is really taking off."

"The rugby fans really created a good atmosphere and we hope to do this more regularly."

"We are looking at it for the football World Cup, but the only worry is the behaviour of the fans." Time will tell whether 3D sport is a hit or a miss, but it was certainly popular in Harlow on Saturday.

Bike ride trio saddle up for training day

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THREE Harlow women planning to take part in a London to Paris charity cycle ride continued their preparations with an all-day training session in the Harvey Centre on Saturday.

Lesa Barker (38), of Tithelands, Caroline Wheeler (47), of Whieldon Grange, and Trisia Clear (42), of Spencers Croft, kept the wheels turning on two static bikes as part of their fitness regime for the 349-mile ride.

They also found time to hand out balloons, flags and kidney health information to shoppers ahead of World Kidney Day next Thursday.

Lesa, a community fundraising manager for Kidney Research UK, said: "More than three million people in the UK are suffering from kidney disease and 90 per cent of the organ donor waiting list is for kidneys.

"That is why we are trying our hardest to raise awareness among the public on how to keep your kidneys healthy. You would be surprised to know how many people do not actually have a clue what the kidneys do and how important they are."

Off-duty nurses from Princess Alexandra Hospital also carried out free blood pressure tests as high blood pressure is one of the most common early signs for kidney disease.

The two static bikes used by the trio were loaned by health club Esporta in the Water Gardens.

The charity bike ride takes place on June 30.

Credit union offers an alternative to banks

IN these times of economic uncertainty and suspicion of the banks, not many in the financial services industry have dared to put their heads above the parapet.

But one Harlow-based organisation is putting itself forward as an alternative to the high street banks by offering secure savings, low-cost loans and "ethical" investments.

Harlowsave Credit Union also helps individuals who may be struggling to cope with personal debt.

"If someone comes to us asking for a loan and we feel after looking at their finances that they cannot afford it, then we will tell them," said Jenny Smith, of the co-operative which is based in the Rainbow Centre at Wych Elm.

"This isn't necessarily how a bank would work. Part of the way they make money is by people falling behind with their payments – but this is no good for the individual because they end up being saddled with even more debt.

"We work with individuals to help them manage their finances, sometimes giving them advice about how to deal with their banks if they have got into difficulty."

Harlowsave is owned by its members and has no shareholders. It promises straightforward and affordable financial services for anyone who lives, works or studies in Harlow.

In the first instance members come to the union as savers but can then take out loans. Between October and January it loaned £187,000.

Typical amounts range from £200 to £1,000 but can go up to £5,000. Any higher than that and borrower would be better off approaching a bank to try to secure a better deal.

Some employers in the area can arrange for savings to be taken directly out of employees' pay packets, thus removing the temptation to spend the cash.

"We encourage people to put a little aside every month," said Jenny. "Sometimes it doesn't matter how little it is; it soon builds up and you have money there for whatever you want."

● Harlowsave Credit Union and Harlow Council will be hosting a free event from 1.30-4pm next Thursday (March 11) at Harlow Civic Centre.

Warmfront, pension services, the Citizens Advice Bureau and Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice will be among the organisations offering financial advice.

Breaking down barriers

A CHARITY helping disabled youngsters gain access to mainstream leisure activities is now operating in Essex.

Out & About helps disabled youngsters have fun by pairing them with fully trained volunteers who share similar interests.

Activities cover a wide range of leisure pursuits including sports, art, clubbing and going to the cinema. The group, which was commissioned by Essex County Council, also supports young people in gaining confidence and becoming more independent.

Chief executive Steve Allman said: "I'm really pleased to be bringing our unique service to Essex and look forward to enabling disabled children to break through the barriers they often face when trying to access mainstream leisure activities and create new opportunities for fun and friendship."

Gang attack victim suffers broken jaw

A YOUNG man suffered a broken jaw during what police have described as an unprovoked attack by a gang of teenagers in Old Harlow on Friday.

The 19-year-old victim was kicked and punched by the six thugs – both boys and girls – during the assault which took place opposite the Harlow Baptist Church in Fore Street between 9.50-10.10pm.

His jaw was broken in two places and it is thought he may have lost consciousness during the attack.

After his attackers fled the scene

he sought assistance at The Crown pub in Market Street and an ambulance was called.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where medics secured his jaw with a metal plate. He is now recovering at home.

The two females in the group are described as white, aged between 16-19, around 5ft 5ins tall and of medium build.

Three of the four men are described as white, aged 17-19 and about 5ft 8ins tall. They were all wearing dark clothing and possibly hooded tops.

The fourth male attacker was of similar age and appearance but was of slim to medium build and had short, black hair. He was wearing black clothing and possibly a black hooded top.

A police spokesman said: "This was a nasty, unprovoked assault on a young man which has left him with serious injuries."

Anyone with information about the assault should call detectives at Harlow CID on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

A THREE-year strategy has been launched to tackle the weighty problem of childhood obesity in Harlow by encouraging youngsters to play.

Harlow Council has teamed up with the Harlow Play and Youth Activities Partnership to draw up the action plan which will create and promote a wide variety of free play opportunities across the town.

The plan includes applying for funding for new projects and raising awareness of existing learning and play opportunities. Only last month the Star reported on shocking figures that revealed the town has the highest levels of child obesity in the east of England.

According to statistics released by the National Child Measurement Programme, over a fifth of Year Six pupils and 11 per cent of children at reception age are obese.

Over the years the nature of children's play has changed dramatically and the plan looks at ways of removing the barriers to play. It has been developed in consultation with children, young people and families. Consultation found that while

By STAR REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

young people want a wider variety of activities, the cost of transport can be an issue.

There also needs to be separate activities for babies, young children and youths, and young people don't always know where and how to access activities.

Councillor Joel Charles, vice-chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, said: "We want all children to be active and play regularly and as a partnership we can help make this happen by working together to provide new opportunities and promote the benefits of play."

"Harlow has many parks, open spaces and playgrounds as well as a skatepark and Youth Café which are all free to use. Art, nature and sports activities are also readily available across the town."

"Childhood obesity in Harlow is too high and we need to change that. Too many children do not play together anymore. They stay at home in front of the TV, the computer or play video games."

"Children who stay indoors are missing out on important life experiences, socialising face-to-face and staying healthy."

Life-saving Labrador is given a bravery medal

AN Army dog trained to detect roadside bombs has been awarded a medal for bravery.

Treo, a nine-year-old black Labrador, has twice sniffed out hidden explosives in Afghanistan which could have killed or injured soldiers and civilians.

Now safely back in the UK, the plucky pooch has been given the Dickin Medal – the highest accolade an animal involved in military action can receive – by the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals.

Since the medal was first introduced during the Second World War, it has been awarded to 26 dogs, 32 messenger pigeons, three horses and one cat have won it.

Treo's handler, Sergeant Dave Heyhoe, said: "Everyone says that he is just a military working dog and yes he is, but he is also a very good friend of mine. We look after each other."

Treo has now retired from the Army. "Now he is retired he can relax," said Dave. "This medal is a great honour for him."

PDSA director general Jan McLoughlin said: "The Dickin Medal is recognised throughout the world as the animals' Victoria Cross and is the highest award any animal can receive for bravery in the line of duty. Treo is, without doubt, a worthy recipient."

There are still around 25 dogs in Afghanistan helping British troops find guns and explosives.

ST ALBANS RC PRIMARY: Pupils enjoyed a change of scenery when they returned from their half-term break.

Parents and school governors joined staff and children at the grand opening of two new classrooms.

Headteacher Anne Marie McCann told the Star: "We decided to extend our facilities to offer our younger pupils an even better learning environment."

"Needless to say the children were very excited to be moving to a new classroom and are really enjoying the benefits more space and a change of scenery bring."

Pictured are Roisin Canny (6) and Summer Lopez (5), with Father Bogdan, Mrs McCann and chairman of governors George Reynolds.

LATTON GREEN: Sporty youngsters vaulted into the county gymnastics finals after beating off competition from schools across Harlow.

The Riddings Lane primary will now represent the town at infants and Key Stage 2 levels in the Essex-wide competition on June 11.

And not to be outdone, the school's high-flying basketball team also won the chance to represent Harlow at county level after reigning supreme at a recent town-wide competition.

PE specialist Liz Hazlehurst said: "I'm so very proud of our gymnastics and basketball teams for making it through to the county competition."

"Latton Green is a small primary school compared to others in Harlow and has not always had a great reputation for sport as a result, so for our pupils to make it this far is especially impressive."

FAWBERT & BARNARDS: Staff were celebrating after the London Road school scored top marks in its latest Ofsted report.

The inspection team found pupils were achieving well and showed exemplary consideration for one another, while their enthusiasm for learning and outstanding behaviour also impressed.

Parents' views were also taken into account and the inspectors reported that "parents strongly agree that their children enjoy school and value the rich range of experiences available to them".

Headteacher Pav Saunders said: "The report confirmed our own evaluation of the school; we have great pupils and a great team and we know exactly what we need to do to improve."

"Our school motto is 'Learning for Life', so we were really pleased that the inspectors praised the way our pupils develop confidence and skills that prepare them for a life of learning."

We remember day the Queen visited Harlow

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

WHEN we asked readers to tell us more about the day the Queen visited Harlow in 1957, the response was swift.

Former teacher Jan Hiller (91), of Upper Park, sent in this photograph of Her Majesty visiting Mark Hall School during her visit in October of that year.

The Queen is pictured walking with headmaster G.B. Palmer with pupils lining up in the background.

Mrs Hiller, who was head of art at the First Avenue school, said the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh also met the head boy and girl.

Former Mark Hall pupil Christine Golding, of Tye Green Village, remembers: "My brother, John Hansford, and I were pupils. It was in my first year at the school and it had not been open that long, my brother being one of the first pupils to attend.

"I clearly remember the school being assembled in the playground. We, being the youngest, were in the front row when she emerged, coming down the steps from the gymnasium.

"She stopped briefly in front of me and to this day I remember her beautiful skin, amazing eyes and that smile."

Carole Lomas, of Radburn Close,

Harlow, was 13 at the time and a pupil at Netteswell School. She said: "We were taken to the base of the tower block nearest to the school.

"The Queen and Duke of Edinburgh were right at the top and were very difficult to see but it was very exciting."

Dennis Brittain, of Brooklane Field, Harlow, was working at the Harlow Metal Co in Edinburgh Way. "Because the factory site was quite large and spread out, it was decided to transport the Queen and the Duke around the site by means of an electric truck pulling a smartened up platform trolley with two rather grand armchairs mounted at the rear.

"In order to check that all would go well a rehearsal was held the day before the visit with the company manager and a director standing in for the Royal couple.

"This brought about a spate of exaggerated bowing and scraping from some of the operators as the cavalcade went by-much to the embarrassment of the management.

"However on the day the visit went well with the Duke in particular showing interest with various machines and their products."

Mr Brittain speculates that the main reason for the visit was for the Duke to officially open and name Edinburgh Way.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Old Harlow

THE mystery surrounding this picture of troops marching through Mulberry Green in Old Harlow has been solved with a bit of sleuthing by a local history officer and two Star readers.

David Devine said the original copy of the image was kept in the extensive archives at the Museum of Harlow. It was taken in 1945 as part of the victory celebrations after the war and shows the Home Guard marching for the last time.

This was the 'standing down' parade of the Potter Street platoon, according to Una Francis, of Sawbridgeworth, who is in the picture.

Former Home Guard soldier Alexander Spooner, of Fesants Croft, Harlow, tells us the leather gaiters and shoulder flashes worn by the troops in the picture differentiated them from regular soldiers.

It is not the first time the picture has featured in the pages of the Star, though. Back in 1985 the image was used to commemorate the anniversary of VE Day.

Concern over children's craze

The latest craze in local schools - the Ouija board - is endangering children's minds, say parents and teachers. Youngsters claim they have made contact with a murder victim and a young girl killed in a car crash.

Rats infestation in lofts

The Pied Piper of Hamelin would receive a warm welcome at council flats in Moorfield where the lofts have been infested with rats. Even though one was found dead the vermin still ran riot, said one mother

Pupils 'pawns' in strike action

Thousands of children in Harlow will be "innocent pawns" when teachers strike following the collapse of pay talks. About 8,000 children will be affected as union members stage a half-day walkout.

Shortage of clergy: less care

People's problems are being neglected because of a shortage of clergy in Harlow, it has been claimed. "Harlow is starved of clergy because we haven't money to house them," said Canon Donald Knight of St Paul's Church.

SPOTLIGHT On Education 2010

Smiles Preschool

SMILES welcomes children from three months to five years and is open Monday to Friday from 7.30 am until 6.30pm.

Each of the colourful and spacious classrooms provide a range of activities including French, yoga and jo-jingles. The curriculum is planned to accommodate the different ages and stages of each individual child.

The nursery also adopts the Montessori Method alongside the Early Years Foundation Stage. Research into the Montessori approach has shown that the earlier a child learns to interact with others, the more developed their social skills and confidence. "All children have an innate desire to learn." This philosophy enthused by Dr Maria Montessori is incorporated throughout the whole nursery through three traditional Montessori principles: preparation of the environment, individual freedom and observation.

These principles guide teachers to 'control the environment' and not the child, to look at the child as an unknown being which allows a child's true nature to freely emerge.

Smiles accepts Government funding and a variety of voucher schemes.

For a prospectus or further information call (01279) 422922 or visit the website at www.smilespreschool.co.uk.

Play and Learn Childcare

PLAY and Learn Childcare has two local nurseries and after-school clubs in Newhall, Old Harlow and Great Dunmow. The beautiful, air conditioned premises provide a bright, clean and secure environment, ideal in which to play and learn.

All equipment and materials are brand new, and the owners have been running a 131-place nursery in London for over 13 years. The Play and Learn managers have been with the business most of that time.

The programme is stimulating and always fun, tailored to the individual needs of each child, thus ensuring that they can develop at their own pace while maximising their potential.

Flexibility is Play and Learn's byword, and staff will always go out of their way to assist with any specific requirements you may have.

More than just a nursery: Play and Learn hosts three Surestart activity sessions and also provide pre- and post-natal yoga and baby massage courses run by consultant nurse Alex, which are available to anyone at a very moderate cost.

St Hugh's School

YOUR child's first experience of schooling is vital and at St Hugh's School you will find a warm, friendly and secure environment in which your child can thrive. St Hugh's is a Catholic day school and nursery for children aged three-11 that welcomes all faiths and embraces family values to lay the foundations for a happy life. The school is set in an attractive, rural location within the magnificent grounds of St Edmund's College, providing an abundance of space for both learning and play. Class sizes are small and the school offers exceptional music, art and sports facilities. There is also an extensive programme of extra-curricular activities and an after-school club.

Children can join the nursery in the term of their third birthday. As a completely self-contained area within the school, the nursery has its own attractive garden and outdoor play area. Children can attend for either morning, afternoon or full-day sessions.

The most recent Ofsted inspection report declared the nursery provision at St Hugh's as outstanding, putting it at the top of the league tables for nurseries in Hertfordshire and across the UK.

Stanley Goodman

AS a qualified teacher in primary and secondary schools, Stanley Goodman has had a wide range of teaching experience and posts of responsibility. He enjoys teaching children and adults of all ages and is able to prepare students for GCE A-Level and GCSE Syllabuses.

"I enjoy helping pupils in Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2 extend their knowledge when learning the rudiments of the French language through fun activities and carefully chosen material," says Mr Goodman.

"I can also help Key Stage 3 students gain that extra confidence needed when making decisions about continuing the language into Key Stage 4. I start with a review of what pupils have achieved and then help them to improve in all of the four skill areas."

Stanley Goodman is also equally happy to work in a business environment, helping clients achieve a good standard of communication needed when travelling to, working or living in a French-speaking country. For further details, call (01992) 576068.

Did you know Government statistics predict that 9 out of 10 children will be overweight or obese by 2050, leaving them at risk of a range of serious illnesses such as heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure and even cancer.

"But with a few simple lifestyle changes, it doesn't have to be like that" says Lesley who has run the Tye Green class for 22 years. "Young people can already learn about the benefits of a healthy lifestyle by attending Slimming World groups free of charge as part of our Family Affair scheme. They learn how to make healthier food choices that fit in with their school, home and social lives and they also discuss the importance of physical activity."

Families in Harlow are being urged to change their lifestyle for the sake of their children, as part of Slimming World's new 'Let's Beat Obesity Together' campaign, which aims to prevent the crisis from spiralling out of control in the area. "We need to get everyone involved if this is really going to work" Says Lesley. Slimming World research shows that 75% of members influence the people around them to eat more healthily. This initiative will take member's positive influence not just to friends and family, but to the community as a whole. So who not pop along to your local class and see what they can do for you?

what's on at The Square

>>TONIGHT Incoming makes way for the hotly-anticipated return of The Square's annual Rock Contest. Doors open at 8pm and entry is £4.

>>FRIDAY What do you remember about the summer of 1997? Labour sweeping to power on the crest of Cool Britannia? The death of Princess Diana? Blur and Oasis slugging it out in the charts? One thing you probably won't remember it for, however, is an all-too-brief cameo from one of the brightest musical talents of the decade – Finlay Quaye. Well it just so happens that Mr Quaye, who released his seminal debut album Maverick A Strike that very summer before all but disappearing, is playing The Square tonight to remind you all just how brilliant his soul-soaked roots-reggae thang is. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £10 (£9 members).

>>SATURDAY Those quiet types at Beautiful Agony are back and ready to chew up your ears with a typically restrained evening of manic metal. Comfortably louder than war itself, Deaf Havana headline with support from Atlas & I, Secrets Of Us All and Burn So Bright. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £7 (£6 members).

>>SUNDAY The Square's legendary Comedy Night – fondly recalled by none other than Stewart Lee during his recent gig at Harlow Playhouse – returns with a bill featuring no less than four comedians. Compered by John Mann, the line-up includes Rich Wilson, Chambers and Nettleton, Matt Price and Chris Norton Walker. The evening begins at 8pm and tickets cost £5.

Cliché-free Stew hits Boyling point

REVIEW

Stewart Lee
Harlow Playhouse

STEWART Lee is over the hill. He's 41, you see, and the rage that once drove his supercharged comedy vehicle has all but dried up, leaving little more than an empty husk of a man who bears a striking resemblance to a portly Terry Christian.

Or so reads the comedy gospel according to Frankie Boyle, whose professionally controversial proclamation that all comedians should be put out to pasture as soon as they hit 40 acts as the catalyst to Lee's peerless stand-up deconstruction of the artistic bankruptcy of mainstream culture.

The former Mock The Week star's now-notorious riff about the Queen thus becomes the first object of Lee's scorn, the joke exposed as tired, flimsy and plainly ridiculous after being mercilessly picked apart.

But the disdain shown towards Boyle is nothing compared to the outright contempt Lee displays towards his next victim – Richard 'The Hamster' Hammond of Top Gear fame. "I hate Richard Hammond more than anyone who has ever lived," says Lee, before berating any members of the audience harbouring any shred of affection for the diminutive presenter and reminding them he is "not a real hamster".

Describing him as a "licence-free paid professional apologist for ignorance and bullying", Lee launches into an extreme 30-minute dissection of Hammond's politically incorrect crimes, skilfully wringing uncomfortable laughs from a daring skit about that car crash by explaining "it's only a joke, just like on the Top Gear".

The taboo tightrope between hilarity and Daily Mail outrage successfully negotiated, Lee finally pours his deadpan mockery into the artistic vacuum in which advertising creatives operate for his parting shot.

A hilariously deranged rant about a risible TV advert for cider made from 100 per cent pear ("It should be pears!" he rants) sees him roaming around the auditorium in mock-indignation about the traumatic theft of a family catchphrase passed down through hundreds of generations, the tragicomic skit drawing surreal hilarity from what is actually an earnest lament for the sorry state of our disposable culture.

As a purveyor of cliché-free comedy crackling with intelligence and sensitivity, Lee is without equal. He may be 41, but there's more fire in his expanding belly than a whole gaggle of excitable panel-show comics could muster between them.

COMBINING a unique aesthetic conjured from his twisted imagination with dark humour and heartfelt emotion, Tim Burton has remained a visionary in a sea of profit-driven conformity.

His opening two chapters of the Batman franchise pushed boundaries in mainstream box office fare, leading to the introduction of the 12A certificate in the UK.

Beetlejuice, Edward Scissorhands and Sleepy Hollow plumbed the grimy depths of the human condition with tongue planted firmly in cheek while, more recently, Burton put his distinctive spin on Charlie And The Chocolate Factory and Sweeney Todd.

Johnny Depp, pictured above, has been a regular collaborator during the past two decades and the Oscar-nominated actor gets top billing in this wild re-imagining of the books of Lewis Carroll.

Burton's descent down the rabbit hole is a characteristically eye-catching and quixotic journey of self-discovery in a world where anything can – and probably will – happen.

Fans of the director's earlier work will recognise his thumbprints on the grotesque character design and colourful sets, many of which are rendered digitally.

The film opens with rebellious 19-year-old heroine (Mia Wasikowska, pictured above right) faced with a most unexpected marriage proposal from bumbling twit Hamish Ascot (Leo Bill). Fleeing the public proposal to clear her head, Alice chases a White Rabbit (voiced by Michael Sheen) down a hole, and reunites with old friends the Mad Hatter (Depp), Tweedledee and Tweedledum (Matt Lucas), Absolem the Caterpillar (voiced by

ALICE IN WONDERLAND (3D & 2D)
certificate PC 1h48m

Alan Rickman), The Dormouse (Barbara Windsor) and The Cheshire Cat (Stephen Fry), who she cannot remember from her earlier visit to Wonderland. Alice learns she is destined to slay the fearsome Jabberwocky (Christopher Lee) owned by the decapitation-happy Red Queen (Helena Bonham Carter).

Alice In Wonderland screens in 3D at Harlow Cineworld and the technology works best at the beginning of the film when Alice tumbles down the hole and objects fly at the screen, compelling us to duck and dive.

On the whole, Burton's vision loses very little in traditional 2D.

The visuals are stunning, as you would expect, but characterisation is weak and Depp's turn as the Mad Hatter is one bout of lunacy too far. Armed with various strange accents, his mad milliner is unintelligible in places.

Bonham Carter is an absolute delight as the maniacal monarch with the unnaturally large noggin, who employs swine as footstools.

The framing device of the marriage proposal robs the film of any sense of urgency or danger – how can Alice be harmed when she has to return to the world above to give Hamish her answer – as we search in vain for the substance behind the style.

>>>still on screen

>>>THE CRAZIES Breck Eisner's suspenseful yarn pays homage to the 1968 zombie classic Night Of The Living Dead with experimental bio-weapons as the contemporary trigger for all of the mayhem in a cosy Midwestern town where the population is rapidly falling in a bloodthirsty apocalypse.

>>>THE LOVELY BONES Cutting back and forth between the real world and a heavenly limbo, The Lovely Bones details the efforts of a murdered 14-year-old schoolgirl (Saoirse Ronan) who helps her grieving father (Mark Wahlberg) apprehend her killer from beyond the grave.

>>>PERCY JACKSON & THE LIGHTNING THIEF Chris Columbus directs the big-screen big budget version of the first of five books by Rick Riordan. High school student Percy Jackson (Logan Lerman) embarks on a quest to the underworld when he discovers he is the son of Poseidon (Kevin McKidd). Columbus doesn't let the effects overwhelm the storytelling, although it's more of a stretch than a squeeze to fill the rollicking two hours.

>>>VALENTINE'S DAY Julia Roberts, Jessica Alba, Bradley Cooper, Jamie Foxx, Jennifer Garner, Anne Hathaway, Ashton Kutcher and Shirley MacLaine are among the stars in Garry Marshall's sugar-coated tale of romance and heartbreak in Los Angeles. Marshall's film runs the risk of being little more than cinematic candy floss, however, there are some big laughs and eye-catching performances from a stellar cast, who appear to be having a ball.

>>>THE PRINCESS AND THE FROG Disney breaks with tradition and casts its first ever African-American princess in this enchanting reworking of the Grimm brothers' fairytale, set in New Orleans around the time of the First World War. Tiana (voiced by Anika Noni Rose) is turned into a frog after kissing a smooth-talking amphibian, and has to embark on a perilous quest to get herself turned back into a human.

>>>AVATAR (2D) Winner of two Golden Globes, James Cameron's special effects-laden blockbuster pushes the boundaries of big-screen technology.

>>>ASTRO BOY The iconic figure of Astro Boy takes flight in a new computer-animated adventure directed by David Bowers, with a storyline that puts a futuristic spin on the classic tale of Pinocchio.

>>>ALVIN AND THE CHIPMUNKS: THE SQUEAKQUEL The diminutive trio meet their match in three feisty females.

>>>PLANET 51 The computer-animated comedy unfolds on a world far from ours where little green men, women and child live in domestic bliss. But the crash-landing of a dim-witted American astronaut (voiced by Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson) causes chaos.

Add value to your property this year

A leading local estate agency is advising how home owners can add value to their properties in 2010 to yield the best price possible when they come to sell.

Shawn Meakins, Branch Manager of haart of Harlow, said: "This year should see the gradual strengthening of the Harlow and surround areas property market. Prime homes in prime locations always sell well, but there is a real shortage of better quality homes on the market so any work done has got to enhance the property. There are a number of things sellers can do to ensure their properties attract buyers and yield the best price."

Extensions and loft conversions, extra bedrooms and bathrooms, new kitchens, conservatories and creating off-road parking are all proven ways of increasing the value of a property, but according to Shawn there are also less expensive and invasive ways of ensuring a property is attractive to potential buyers.

He said: "Simple renovations can add value to a property. Re-decorating the outside and improving the garden will add instant curb-appeal. Light and airy properties are very attractive to buyers so decorate with light neutral colours. Dispose of clutter and if you are presenting your home to potential buyers remember to 'stage' it which will mean getting rid of too many personal items such as photographs and ornaments, ensuring that it is spotlessly clean, replacing old furniture with selected new items and carrying out basic repairs."

However Shawn also adds a note of caution: "The cost of any home improvement must be in proportion to the value of the house. A lot of home improvements can be done without planning permission these days, but it is worth checking before the work starts. If you do have to apply for planning permission, allow for the costs involved and the extra time you'll need for permission to be granted," he said.

Paul Smith, Chief Executive of haart said: "There are a fewer number of properties coming on to the market at present and while this continues sellers have a great opportunity to obtain a higher price for their property and achieve a faster sale. However potential sellers should always consider the best ways they can add value to their property and we are always happy to advise them on this."

For further information on buying or selling property, please contact our branch on 01279 44 33 11.

Retro Fiat is a lesson in chic

The latest in a line of chic, retro-themed boutique cars, the Fiat 500 packs plenty of style into 355cm. ANDY ENRIGHT reports.

Although the shape
may be vaguely reminiscent of the 1957 original, little else about the Fiat 500 sticks to its predecessor's back to basics appeal.

This time round the 500
is unashamedly chic, offering an upmarket look and feel that will doubtless carve a sizeable chunk into MINI's bottom line.
Fiat has latterly built a reputation for having a wide range of excellent powerplants, especially at the smaller end of the product portfolio. It was to Fiat that Suzuki turned when they wanted a small diesel
for their SX4 model, offering the Italians what was to become their Sedici in exchange.

Indeed, the 75bhp 1.3-litre 16v Multijet diesel engine fitted to the 500 is so good that it rather overshadows the otherwise excellent pair of mainstream petrol powerplants. These comprise an entry-level 69bhp 1.2 8v and a punchy 100bhp 1.4-litre 16v.

Five or six speed
manual transmissions are offered and the 500 has been designed to replicate the original car's nimble feel and ability to put a smile on its driver's face.

A 155bhp 1.4-litre
turbocharged Abarth
model is also available, fully toolled up with beefier steering, retuned suspension and a few aerodynamic
tweaks. The 500C convertible is a further option.

Much of the underpinnings are based on Panda running gear – no bad thing as the Panda is a fun steer.
Like the Panda, the 500
uses simple MacPherson strut suspension up front and a basic torsion beam at the back. A few centimetres have been added to the width of the car's track, giving it a foursquare appearance and Fiat claims that body rigidity is around 10 per cent better than the Panda.

The 500 is significant in more than the obvious ways. Built at the Tychy plant in Poland alongside the Panda, the chassis also forms the basis for the all-new Ford Ka. At 1.65m wide, 1.49m high and 3.55m long, the 500 doesn't take up a great deal of space.

Delicious design details drip from the 500. It's like a tiny pearl, especially when the ivory finish interior is specified.

There's a very well-judged blend of retro
chic and ruthlessly modern contemporary design inside, with circular head restraints,

a glass roof and iconic 500 badging on the Panda-sourced dashboard.

Chrome-ringed vents and a fascia that can be specified in the same colour as the body, mirroring the painted metal dash of the Nuovo 500, are just some of the interior design features. The exterior treatment is cool and clean.

Prices are surprisingly reasonable given the hype surrounding the 500 and the car is only fractionally more expensive than the Panda citycar on which it is based.

Prior to the 500's
arrival, the speculation was that it would target the kind of premium
prices that BMW charges for its MINI but Fiat is sticking to what it knows with affordability remaining a key weapon in the 500's armoury.

Fiat's Panda is one of the cheapest cars to own, so the 500 will prove little different.
The Multijet diesel version will average over 65mpg, with the 1.2-litre petrol unit not far behind on around 50mpg.

Whether you love or loathe the Fiat 500 very much depends on your standpoint on retro design. Some see it as a shameless plundering of a company's crown jewels, a pastiche that suggests the manufacturer has run out of good ideas.

Others see retro cars as a celebration, offering the style and appeal of the oldies with modern safety and efficiency.

When done well, retro works. The 500 seemed destined to succeed from the outset. There's such a cheekiness and personality to its design that people would have bought the car even if it was irredeemably awful in every other respect.
The fact is that it's actually rather good. If you're looking for cheeky, cheap and practical, a Panda is still a slightly better car.
If a style statement is more your thing, the 500 gets the vote every time.

Loss leaves side in relegation battle

Colchester took the lead just before half-time. A short corner was stopped dead by Johnson, but the resulting melee ended with the ball being forced into the net despite courageous defending from veteran Steve Jones.

The game was effectively over when Colchester scored a third early in the second half with a deflected shot into the goal.

Harlow grabbed a second goal just before full-time after some good build-up play by Adam Ottley on the right wing allowed Shearman-Slack to fire home his second goal of the day.

Symonds said: "Without the firm base of a settled side week in week out, it will be difficult to put a good run of results together.

"Thankfully our good start to the campaign should be enough to compensate for this poor run."

HARLOW: Johnson, Castle, Plumbridge, Jones, Grace, Simmonds, Krzoska, Shearman-Slack, Hastler, Ottley, Hagger.

Ladies eye top two

Harlow went ahead from a well-worked move in the first half.

Carolyn Rushton set up Sonya Amos and she slipped the ball past the on-rushing keeper for Holly Reilly to finish.

Home captain Emma Tweddle sealed the points in the second period with a low shot into the corner.

On Sunday, Redbridge went ahead on six minutes from a swift attack.

Harlow equalised just three minutes later from a slick short-corner routine.

Tweddle's pass to Amos preceded a quick cross to Georgina Esterhuysen at the far post who slotted past the Redbridge keeper.

After the break Jo Green put Harlow 2-1 up when she turned in a rebound after her first shot was blocked by the home keeper.

Redbridge made it 2-2 with 15 minutes left, through their centre forward who shot past visitors' keeper Linda Rowley.

But Rushton pinched the points for Harlow through a fine solo goal with five minutes left.

'We're not giving up'

He ran through the visitors defence and beat Horton from inside the area.

Harlow centre-half Liam Thomas grabbed a consolation goal on 81 minutes when he fired home from an acute angle after Lee Protheroe's corner.

The game's last action saw ex-Harlow Chris Ellerbeck shoot against a home post.

HARLOW TN: Hasell (Horton 6), Protheroe, Warren, Chapman, Thomas, Maxwell, Knight, Barnes, Grant, Taylor, Edwards (Bunn 70). Subs not used: E Green, O'Holi. Att: 120.

● HARLOW Town are away to Northwood this Saturday (3pm) and visit VCD Athletic (7.45pm) this Tuesday. Both matches are in the Ryman League division one north.

Running club in third

HARLOW Running Club finished third out of four clubs in the Run-In Cross Country League.

Their men's team were second and their women came last in the league which saw Saffron Striders win all categories (overall/men/women).

The last race at Newport on Sunday saw Harlow finish fourth overall.

Coach upbeat as side lose Herts Plate final

HARLOW Hawks Basketball Club coach Shab Niaz remained upbeat after watching the second team lose to Aylesbury Dux in the Herts County Plate final.

Niaz said: "We picked up early fouls but got off to a flying start.

"However, the boys had big foul trouble and with centre Andrew Burgess's ankle injury [in the third quarter] it was

Aylesbury Dux 69, Harlow Hawks II 55
Herts County Plate Basketball final tough. It was a first final for the majority of the players and they did really well."

Hawks started well in Sunday's clash at Birchwood Leisure Centre in Hatfield and they led 22-11 going into the second quarter.

The match then turned Aylesbury's way and they led 51-45 by the end of the third quarter.

The final quarter was won 18-10 by Aylesbury. Hawks were handicapped by losing their biggest player Ross Lemmings (a centre) after he was fouled out.

HARLOW HAWKS: Norkeliunas (16pts), Morris (11), Lusty (8), Kuzniarz (7), Falcao (6), Chakaza (4), Lemmings (2), Burgess (1), Friedner.

Grant to face FA ban for ref push

Harlow Tn 1, VCD Athletic 2
Ryman League, division one north

WAYNE Grant could be hit with a lengthy FA ban after he allegedly pushed referee Ian Rathbone in the chest following his dismissal against VCD Athletic.

The Hawks striker had just received a second yellow card for a foul in the 80th minute of Saturday's clash at Barrows Farm.

Grant could be out for longer depending on Mr Rathbone's report to the FA.

Hawks player-boss Marvin Samuel did not see the incident but said: "You cannot touch or swear at the referee and he will have to see what happens.

"Wayne may have to take it [an extra ban] on the chin."

At the time of the sending-off, the match was poised at 1-1 but VCD took full advantage of the extra man five minutes later as Aaron Firth's 18-yard shot went over Hawks keeper James Hasell and into the goal.

Harlow gave a debut to debut to midfielder Corey Barnes - signed from Stansted - while there was a recall for ex-player Craig Charles. He partnered Grant up front.

There was also a late substitute appearance for striker

RED MIST: A VCD player tries to calm down Wayne Grant, right (HSP0630648)

Adriano Lawson, previously released by League One club Southend United.

Harlow went ahead on 25 minutes. Spencer Knight's free-kick prompted a goalmouth scramble and Grant scrambled home from close range.

However, VCD equalised just three minutes later when Leroy Huggins' header beat Hasell.

On 74 minutes, Hawks sub Reece Dobson was tripped in the box, but Mr Rathbone waved away the spot-kick appeals, infuriating the hosts.

Samuel said: "This was a big moment. We could have taken a 2-1 lead and that would have altered things. It was more of a penalty than theirs.

After Harlow went down to 10 and had fallen behind, they conceded an injury-time penalty when Knight fouled sub Reece Walsh. But Hasell saved the spot-kick from Huggins.

"We showed a lot more effort and desire than we have but came away with nothing," Samuel added.

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Protheroe, Knight, Thomas, Walker (Chapman 81), Maxwell, Taylor, Samuel, Grant (sent off 85), Charles, Barnes (Dobson 70). Sub not used: Horton (gk). Att: 134.

● SWEDISH second division club Orgryte will be training at Harlow Town Football Club as part of their pre-season programme from Monday March 8 to Wednesday March 10.

The Gothenberg team includes 36-year-old striker and former Aston Villa player and Sweden assistant manager Marcus Allback.

They will play a Charlton Athletic XI at Barrows Farm on Tuesday (KO 2pm).

Moore to come as school seals first

HENRY Moore Primary School were first and St James Primary School came second in a Harlow Schools cross country event.

These two were due to represent Harlow at the Essex county cross country final event in Southend yesterday (Wednesday) along with four other local schools.

They are Roydon, Pear Tree Mead, St Luke's and Holy Cross.

The event at Passmores School in Tendring Road, Harlow, last Wednesday (February 24), drew more than 700 children from schools within the Harlow School Sports Partnership.

Years 3 and 4 ran around a 1,000m circuit, while years 5 and 6 ran 1,500m.

Results of Harlow AC runners at the event: Year 6 girls - Rose Poole 1st; Sade Hinkummi 2nd; Sydnee Hannam 5th; Marie-Wise Heyare 7th.

Year 5 girls - Hannai Sbai (Henry Moore) 7th; Year 4 girls - Melissa Hinkummi 6th Elise Bailey 8th.

Boys year 6 - Jamie Rushwood (2nd), Kannen Solomon (7th).

● HARLOW Athletic Club members Rose Poole and Millie Smith came 4th and 13th respectively in an U-11 2,200m race at an open meeting in Great Notley, Essex.

Rams women record victory to move step closer to title

Rugby

THE Rams Ladies went top of the pile after a narrow victory in a low-scoring derby at Hertford Rugby Club on Sunday.

Harlow triumphed 6-5 and moved into pole position in the RFU Women's League division two SE east.

The visitors did their best to string together some moves but a lack of concentration saw the ball being dropped and penalties given away too often.

Hertford took full advantage of Harlow's lax attitude. From a penalty, the hosts scored an unconverted try in the corner.

A mismatch in numbers from a line-out gave Harlow a penalty. A quick take from Nicola Millman found Hertford not back 10m and Emily Gizzi was able to take full advantage to slot over the kick and make it 5-3 on 20 minutes.

Some fantastic defensive tackling from Dani McKenna and Sarah Stimpson denied Hertford after several attempts at breaking the line. Handling on the floor by Hertford gave Gizzi another kick which finally put Harlow ahead (6-5).

The Rams withstood fierce Hertford pressure to wrap up the win and take Harlow one step closer to winning the league.

● HARLOW Rugby Club's men's first team are due to visit Braintree in RFU London division two north east this Saturday.

The Rams' scheduled game at Saffron Walden last Saturday was postponed because of a waterlogged pitch.

Despite the bad weather two games were played in the division, but Harlow still remain 8th in the 12-team division.

Defeat in National Cup

Cont'd from back

Moss and Haddow scored for Harlow in the third quarter.

Hawks finished the period stronger with a 13-6 run, reducing the Scorpions lead to 60-55 going into the final quarter.

The hosts enjoyed a 10-5 run, cutting the Southend team's lead to five points.

But Scorpions ran in fast break points.

An altercation in the final minute between Niaz and a Scorpions player led to the visitors being awarded free-throws and effectively ending the contest.

Niaz added: "We will now be targeting the Herts League division one cup and building for next season."

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (21pts), Norkeliunas (13), Moss (12), Haddow (11) Jones (4pts), Freeman (3), Z Niaz (2), Allan (2), Spashett, Burgess, Lemmings.

Fifth max for Lowe

A FIFTH 180 of the season for Tye Green Foxes' Graham Lowe could not stop the White Admiral machine rolling on.

The Harlow & District Premier Darts League leaders won 8-0 to move another point away from second-place Servo Link who beat Crusader 7-1.

Lowe is joint second in the 180s table with Ron Green.

Damian Green heads the table with six 180s.

Staple Tye Colts went down 5-3 at TG Whites. Whites' Mick Rout's 112 finish was just topped by a 113 out from Colts' Douglas Thomas.

UG Social won only their third game of the season 5-3 against Colt Hatch SC.

Stow Snooker and Young Pretenders drew 4-4. Pretenders' Peter McDonald notched his second 180 of the campaign. Other results:- Moot House Arrows 4, Moot House 4; Golden Swift 4, Harlow Hawks 4.

'We're not giving up'

Hawks will fight on as dire run stretches to 1 win in 21 games

TOMMY Cunningham rallied the troops and said Hawks would fight to the bitter end after Tuesday's home defeat to Thurrock United.

Former Bishop's Stortford striker Sam Higgins, the Ryman division one north top scorer, hit a hat-trick to leave Harlow Town staring at the relegation trapdoor.

Basement side Harlow have won only

Harlow Tn 1, East Thurrock Utd 3
Ryman League division one north once in their last 21 league games since their 2-1 win at Ware on September 26.

Hawks owner Cunningham said: "I believe we can still turn it around. We need to win a game and that will change things. It's a difficult task."

"I have never given up on anything until you cannot do anything more about it. It's difficult as players you want are in teams going for promotion."

The defeat was worsened by utility player Mark Taylor going off with a hamstring injury.

Defender Kevin Warren played his first first team game in more than 17 months, while former skipper forward James Bunn also came on as a substitute.

Taylor fired against a post after only four minutes, two minutes before keeper James Hasell went off feeling unwell. Callum Horton replaced him in goal.

The visitors went ahead after 39 minutes when a three-man move culminated in Kye Ruel setting up Higgins to finish from six yards.

Thurrock scored a controversial penalty on 45 minutes. Harlow felt Warren was outside the box when he fouled Ruel.

Horton blocked Higgins' penalty but the in-form striker turned in the rebound.

On 48 minutes, Thurrock keeper Richard Wray was adjudged to have fouled Hawks sub Adriano Lawson in the box, but the stopper saved Wayne Grant's spot-kick with his feet.

Max Cornhill's header hit the bar just past the hour before Higgins completed his hat-trick on 79 minutes.

Boxing night's a knock-out

MORE than £5,000 was raised at a charity auction at the President's Sporting Club's annual charity boxing night at The Manor of Groves Golf Club in High Wych on Monday evening.

The event went ahead without its president – former world boxing champ Frank Bruno – who was ill, but it was still a fantastic evening.

On the top table were Sir Henry Cooper, 'blond bomber' Billy Walker, former world light-heavyweight champion John Conteh and former WBC flyweight champ Charlie Magri.

More than 200 gentlemen paid £50 for the meal, while sporting memorabilia including wonderful montages of fights involving Sir Henry and Bruno went for more than £600 each.

The Harlow-based charity creates sporting facilities for disabled children and has raised £1.5m since its inception.

More than 15 boxing bouts were staged on the night.

Southpaw Nick Brace (Bishop's Stortford ABC) lost to a majority decision after a hard-fought contest against Dean Connors (Fitzroy Lodge, Lambeth). Event organiser and charity chairman Mike Jackson said on the night: "It's been a great night but we really want to raise more money as we rarely break even on these nights."

Loss leaves side in trouble

DEFEAT at Colchester II on Saturday has left Joe Symonds' Harlow side just three points off the drop zone.

A season that promised much has slowly disintegrated and poor form since December has left them very much fighting a relegation battle.

The match at home to third-

Harlow were forced to make four changes against Colchester due to injury and unavailability.

Defeat for Harlow in National Cup

Harlow Hawks 68, Southend Scorpions 80
National Basketball Founders Cup, last 16

THE National Founders Cup ambitions of Harlow Hawks ended as they were beaten by Southend Scorpions at the Sportcentre.

Saturday's last 16 clash drew Hawks' biggest crowd of the season of 120 but the hosts never recovered after a slow start.

Injuries to forwards Lee Jones (groin) and Mike Freeman (dislocated finger) also cost the hosts.

Player-coach Shab Niaz said: "They may miss the rest of the season. They [Southend Scorpions] played and executed better than we did throughout the game."

"Their intensity was a lot more than ours and we missed a lot of inside shots. We did not really get going."

Hawks rued early missed chances as the Scorpions opened up an 8-0 lead in the first three minutes.

The home side responded with scores from Mark Haddow and Nick Moss before Niaz chipped in with a long 3-pointer.

However, a 9-2 run by Scorpions set Hawks back and although the latter finished the quarter stronger they found themselves trailing 28-18 going into the second quarter.

There was no score until the two-minute mark when Niaz hit another 3-pointer.

Home scores came from Lee Jones, Rimantas Norkelunas, Niaz and Russ Allan as Scorpions' lead was cut to a point.

However, Hawks were out-scored for the rest of the quarter 10-3 and the hosts trailed 45-37 at the halfway stage.

Despite this they broke the deadlock when Chris Shearman-Slack's persistence paid off and he fired in.

A Colchester forward equalised soon after when he poked the ball despite being flattened by Harlow keeper Adam Johnson.
